

2015 our Centenary Year:

Do you know that our church building will be 100 years old at the end of October? This is an exciting time and we plan a Centenary Year full of celebrations. A number of projects are already under way to this effect. Please watch out how you can be involved. Pam, Bob or Christine Nicola welcome your suggestions. More information on the fund raising events also available from Isobel.

Meanwhile, could you start looking out photographs either digital or printed to be used in displays or saved to disc? Photos should be given to Ann Goodwin. Any memorabilia such as church programmes of events can be used for displays – so go through that attic! Promises of what you have (and later the real article) to Max and Josh please. Christine Taylor would like to know what talents you have so that a craft display can be prepared.

You may be approached by one or more people for different reminiscences or articles. This is a year in which we can all be involved. We will need your ideas on “What St Barnabas’ Church means to me”; “memories of what happened in 1974”; “memories of past Chaplains”. Are you still in touch with people who used to live here or their descendents? All this is relevant, so please contribute.

Keepsake items will be on sale. Key rings and DVDs are available now.
